

U.S. Offensive Soon

Governor to Again Visit Livestock Show

Governor Sidney McMath will be the guest of the Third District Livestock Show Friday Sept. 29. Governor McMath will be the featured speaker in a special program at the livestock coliseum at 11 a. m. that day.

Manager Bob Shivers announced today that livestock entries for this year's show, to be held in Hope Sept. 25 to 30th, are greater than ever before in the history of the show. Entries from all 18 counties in the district are now reported and indicates the finest exhibition of livestock ever shown in this area.

Mr. Shivers also urges that all towns who have not already entered a rodeo queen contestant, but plan to do so, to please forward their entries as quickly as possible. An official Third District Livestock Show Rodeo Queen will be selected and in addition a Miss Hope will be selected to represent Hope in State Livestock Show contest.

Other features of this year's edition of the Livestock Show will include the big Sunset Amusement Co. carnival, free admittance to the show grounds to everyone, a top notch wild western rodeo each night, Monday through Thursday, and a matinee performance Friday afternoon. All public schools in Hempstead County will close on Friday so that the children might attend the livestock show.

The 1950 Third District Livestock show will officially open Monday afternoon at 1 p. m. with a big downtown parade. The entire business district be decorated and a large crowd is anticipated.

To add interest to the parade, Mr. Shivers announced that the Missouri Pacific Railroad will place a genuine Missouri Pacific Eagle in the parade.

Known as the "Baby Eagle," this train is a reduced size exact replica of the Eagle and is powered by a gasoline motor and has a realistic oscillating headlight, whistle, and all of the features of its big brother. Another attraction in the parade will be ten bands from all parts of Southwest Arkansas.

Mr. Shivers said this year's show will be the biggest and best in history. A special added feature is the new $100,000 indoor coliseum which will house exhibits as well as the rodeo. Regardless of weather, all events can be held in the coliseum without hindrance.

With the free gate admittance, the officials of the Third District Livestock Show is looking forward to breaking all attendance records.

No Shortage of Power in State Says Moses

Little Rock, Sept. 13 — (P) — C. Hamilton Moses, president of Arkansas Power and Light company said at the company's annual stockholders meeting here yesterday that "there's no shortage of power in Arkansas."

A. P. and L. is ready to meet any "reasonable demand" for more electric power plants as fast as the new industries will need them," he added.

Moses criticized the proposed "super co-op" generating plant at Ozark as "another legal subterfuge to put the government in the power business."

The "super co-op" is proposed by three Arkansas rural electric co-operatives which have asked for a $10,000,000 loan from the rural electrification administration to build a power plant and transmission lines, which then would be leased to southwestern power administration.

The stockholders elected one new director — Edgar H. Dixon, Teaneck, N. J., president of Middle South Utilities, Inc., holding body for common stock of A. P. and L. Other directors and all officers were reelected.

Consumption of Cotton Averages 30,392 Bales Daily

Washington, Sept. 13 — (P) — The census bureau reported today a cotton consumption for the period of July 30 to Aug. 28 averaged 30,392 bales for each working day.

This compared with an average 28,382 bales for the corresponding period a year ago, and with 32,134 for the July period this year.

For the fourth straight year, the Hempstead county 4-H Club organization has been the recipient of a $50 check presented them by Southwestern Gas and Electric Company. The $50 check for the Hempstead County group was presented to Burrell Smittle, 4-H County Council President, and Kay Kent, 4-H County Council Treasurer, by C. W. Andrews of Southwestern's Rural Development Department.

Andrews said his company made this presentation to 4-H county groups in each of the 5 counties in Arkansas in which Southwestern operates. "We do this to show our sincere interest in the 4-H club organization," he stated.

"We must keep our young people acquainted with the most modern farming methods and the 4-H club does its part in teaching these practices. For this reason, Southwestern is most happy to cooperate with the 4-H groups in every way possible."

"Our rural development was established to give all assistance we can to the promotion of better farming practices in this area. We work closely with county and home demonstration agents in conducting demonstrations on adequate wiring, proper home lighting and other subjects."

The $50 check is to be spent in any way the county organization sees fit, Andrews declared. Last year the Hempstead County group used their check to promote 4-H Club activities in the county.

This year, they plan to use the $50 for the same purpose.

A Soldier Often Wonders About the Kind of Man His Fallen Comrade Really Was

By HAL BOYLE

Korea — (P) — Those who die in battle rarely leave mementoes. Infantrymen in particular must travel light. Every unnecessary ounce is a tax on their strength.

And when they are killed and stretched in rows, there is little to tell them apart except the nature of the wounds through which their life drained out.

The fixed look of death robs their features of their usual individuality. The dreams that marked their faces in life no longer stamp them. Was this closed eye once eager; did this shut mouth often open in complaint — or only to say good things? There is no way to tell. They share an eternal languor that holds all their secrets.

The dogtag to be placed upon their crosses in temporary cemeteries give only a few identifying facts — rank, name, army serial number, and religion. Ironically, the tags also list the type of blood they no longer use. But these bare statistics are poor clues indeed to the personalities of the voiceless dead.

Their pockets tell more about them than does their clothing, their death-softened faces or their dogtags. But it is surprising how little they tell. They usually hold a few sheets of crumpled paper, a stubby pencil, a comb and often a good luck charm or a religious medal or prayer book.

In their wallets are small amounts of money, perhaps a treasure trove of temporary currency, a faded letter from home or an envelope containing a lock of a child's hair and pictures of those the soldiers loved. As this army was long in Japan, many of the faces in the photos are those of Japanese girls.

"I always feel a little sad when I open a wallet that has no photos in it," said a sergeant whose job is to catalog the personal belongings found on combat casualties. "I feel that soldier must have had an awful bare life — and no chance left to make it happier."

He said he often wondered what manner of men those he buried had been. It is perhaps unfair to wish to invade their final privacy, but it is only human when you see the battle dead to want to know more about them.

Marshall Gets Committee Approval 10-2

Washington, Sept. 13 — (P) — President Truman asked congress today to make an exception and let Gen. George C. Marshall serve as secretary of defense even though he is a military man. The senate armed services committee immediately approved the necessary legislation.

The vote was 10 to 2.

Congress has to act because the law says nobody who has been on active duty as an officer of the armed forces within the past ten years can be secretary of defense.

The senate group acted even before a bill was introduced formally. The house armed services committee postponed action until Friday.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the house group said the matter is so important "that I want a full committee present if possible."

The bill may be called up in the senate tomorrow or Friday, in a quick follow-up of the senate committee action.

"I don't look for any difficulty," Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) told reporters.

Tydings said it was clear Mr. Truman wanted the exception to apply to no other person than Marshall, to no other circumstance and to no other time in the future.

Marshall was President Truman's choice to succeed Louis Johnson as secretary of defense. It was announced yesterday that Johnson is resigning, effective next Tuesday, and that Marshall has agreed to succeed him.

Tydings said that only two senate armed services committees — Senators Knowland (R-Calif.) and Cain (R-Wash.) — voted against making the exception allowing Marshall to serve. Senator Bridges (R-NH) was absent and not recorded.

The chairman said he feels the appointment will have the universal approval of the American people and will command respect of the highest order.

There was some Republican opposition, however, to an interruption in traditional civilian control over the military. A few Republicans said, too, that the wrong cabinet officer had been dropped — that it should have been Secretary of State Acheson.

High School PTA Plans First Meet

The Hope High school PTA will hold its first regular meeting of the year Thursday, September 14, at 3:30 p. m. in the school library.

The principal aim of the organization is to have every parent an active worker. Plans for the new year will also be discussed.

Last year the PTA completed payment on a water fountain, installed a new one contributed $50 to the school library and donated $80 to the Youth Center.

Mrs. Lawrence Martin will bring the president's message and James H. Jones Superintendent of schools, will discuss school problems of Hope. Following the business meeting refreshments will be served.

Stolen Car Is Quickly Recovered

Arkansas State Police at Hope reported Tuesday the recovery of Judge E. Harold Beck's car at Arkadelphia. Just about the time the judge discovered his car was missing.

Judge Beck of the fifth District said he discovered his car was gone late Tuesday morning when he went to pick it up at a downtown garage.

Before he could report the loss to Texarkana police, the Texarkana, Ark., police radio received the message from the Hope police station. The state police said the car was found abandoned in a ditch near Arkadelphia and that a suspect was being held for questioning.

How the automobile was taken out of the garage is a question still puzzling the garage owners — and the police.

Johnson Resigns as Defense Minister, Truman Appoints Gen. Marshall to the Post

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, Sept. 13 — (P) — George Catlett Marshall, soldier by profession and diplomat by experience, is headed back to the Pentagon to become secretary of defense.

President Truman turned to the 69-year old, five-star general and former secretary of state to replace Louis Johnson.

Johnson, bowing to presidential will and the "enemies I have acquired during the eighteen months I have served as a member of your cabinet," submitted his resignation yesterday. Mr. Truman accepted it with official regret — but with alacrity.

Suddenly, in a single day, there were vacancies pending in the two top civilian posts of the huge and complex national military establishment.

For what appeared to be entirely personal reasons, Stephen early resigned as deputy secretary. He had remained well past the year's leave granted him by the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Co., so that he could return to government work. None of the criticism that had welled up around Johnson had touched early.

Johnson's resignation is effective next Tuesday, Early's Sept. 30.

Johnson, in his resignation letter, said that Marshall was a "man of such stature that the very act of naming him to be secretary of defense will promote national and international unity."

The President heartily agreed, and most congressional leaders expressed accord, but there was a legal hurdle.

The law which created the unified defense department contains a clause prohibiting the appointment as defense secretary of any man who within ten years has been on active duty as a commissioned officer of the armed forces.

Marshall left the army as chief of staff soon after the end of World War II in 1945. In fact he still is on active duty under the provisions of the law creating the special five-star rank.

Congressional leaders thought they could get quick action on an amendment to the law to clear the way for Marshall's appointment.

Marshall, who has taken orders all his life, accepted Mr. Truman's request to come back, for the third time, to the pressures and urgencies and demands of Washington official life. From his Leesburg, Va., home the general told reporters the President asked if he would accept the defense post and that "I told him I would."

Marshall, with more than the 30 required years of military service behind him, took off his uniform in 1945, only to have Mr. Truman ask him shortly to go to China to see what might be done there by his country. He made that arduous and discouraging mission, came back, settled down to rest again — and was called back in January, 1947, to be secretary of state. He left the state department post two years later and for a time was ill, recovering only after hospitalization and months of convalescence. Now he has been summoned again.

It has been many years since a professional soldier has served as a civilian chief of the armed forces.

How will Marshall again balance between military and civilian thinking?

By training and by more than 30 years of practice, he is a soldier with the precise, realistic approach of a soldier to a problem. But he also has been termed a "citizen-soldier" by those who have studied his writings on the need for emphasis of the civilian over the military in the nation's defense organization.

Moreover, as secretary of state his perspective of government was across the Potomac river from the Pentagon's "high brass" and military style of thinking.

$16 Billion Arms Bill Gets Nod of Committee

Washington, Sept. 13 — (P) — The senate appropriations committee aimed at approval today of a $16,700,000,000 emergency defense bill.

Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn.) said he hopes the group can complete work on the house-approved measure by nightfall.

The bill carries $4,000,000,000 in foreign arms aid in addition to more than $10,000,000,000 to bolster this country's defenses against communist aggression in Korea and wherever else it may crop up.

The committee arranged another meeting behind closed doors, after making public testimony by Secretary of State Acheson that no Western Europe defense plan will be effective unless it includes the manpower and resources of Western Germany.

Acheson expressed his views at a closed session Aug. 30. At the same time the committee was told by Louis Johnson — who resigned yesterday as secretary of defense — that this country's plans for rearming Western Germany will stand up without German manpower.

Pointing up reports of discord between Acheson and Johnson, Senator Cordon (R-Ore.) told the two men that so far as he could see their statements on the German situation were "exactly contradictory."

Johnson disagreed, however. He said Acheson was talking of the political and not the military aspects of the matter. Acheson told the committee:

"What I am trying to point out is that over a period of time if you do not solve the proper need of the German people for security and for participation in the Western Europe scheme, you will have a situation which will then cause so much trouble that your whole plan will not be effective."

"I said as clearly as I possibly can that a program for Western Europe that does not include the productive facilities of all countries of Western Europe, which includes Western Germany as well as France — and does not include the military manpower of all Western Europe will not be effective in the long range political sense."

Johnson disagreed, however. He said Acheson was talking of the political and not the military aspects of the matter. Acheson told the committee:

Another Quake in India Is Reported

Bombay, India, Sept. 13 — (P) — A new earthquake was reported today in northern Assam possibly more violent than the one which took a toll of 5,000 lives in the same area a month ago. No details were available.

The shock hit at 4:45 a. m. CST, reports received here said.

There have been no reports thus far from seismographs elsewhere. When the Aug. 15 quake struck, seismologists around the world reported it so sharp that it made some of their seismographs react crazily.

Officials here were expressed here that loss of life and property from the new tremors, which lasted 90 minutes, would be much more extensive than that caused by the severe quake of Aug. 15.

Dibrugarh, a town of 80,000, apparently was near the center of the new shock. This town had suffered severe damage in the last earthquake.

Violent floods had been reported in the wake of the Aug. 15 quake which the government radio said had left nearly 5,000,000 homeless. Unofficial counts had placed last month's death toll at 5,000. Seismologists said that earthquake was the world's fifth most severe shock.

Davidson's left and run, the Reds must either infiltrate back to their own lines by scrambling over the peaks or face capture or death. The Reds drove a wedge five miles deep and three miles wide into the United Nations line between Angang and Pohang, Davidson said in an interview.

"Last Friday and Saturday we watched the penetration and it gradually grew worse," Davidson said. "The Reds drove a wedge five miles deep and three miles wide into the United Nations line between Angang and Pohang, Davidson said in an interview."

When the task force reached the Pohang perimeter, Davidson said, it found the South Koreans had already seized the first of three ridges dominating the breach in the south.

Davidson then sent his force to seize the second hill, which it did easily, but ran into trouble taking the third and highest ridge.

Air support was called for and a flight of planes came over with fire bombs and machinegun fire.

"They did a magnificent job," Davidson said.

In taking this highest ridge, he added, the South Koreans integrated with American troops went to the front. The terrain, Davidson observed, "was strictly something a 'billygoat' would have trouble climbing."

The South Koreans, however, went up with relative ease. By yesterday, the task force had secured 150 Communists, remnants of a group of 700, into a pocket from three sides. When last seen the Reds were moving northwest in an effort to reach their own lines.

"I don't know how many we killed," Davidson said, "but we did get a large quantity of personal weapons — machineguns, rifles, and burp guns" (Russian automatics.)

Davidson said there would be no more questions to the Big Three change of tactics by Monday the situation would be clearer.

Southern Council Planning for Defense

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 13 — (UP) — Southern states sought information on civilian defense planning from the federal government today.

Delegates to the southern regional conference of the council of state governments passed a resolution asking for a civilian defense pattern "as soon as possible."

The resolution requested information regarding federal allotments for the establishment of civilian defense programs.

Representatives of the conference voted to submit the resolution to the National Council of State Governments.

It asked the national council to urge Paul Larsen, director of civilian mobilization, to expedite the draft of a unified civilian defense program.

The resolution was introduced in its original form by R. M. Merritt, a member of the Florida legislature.

The conference was scheduled to deal with mental health and social security at its closing session today.

Stripper's Loyalty Is Questioned

New York, Sept. 13 — (AP) — The American Broadcasting Company has declined to accept — without substantiating evidence — a charge that Gypsy Rose Lee has pro-Communist sympathies.

In a related move, an AFL theatrical union denounced "irresponsible smearing of the reputations of actors to an extent which is becoming alarmingly dangerous."

The union condemned the dismissal of actress Jean Muir from a television show after she was listed in "Red Channels," a privately published booklet listing 150 radio figures allegedly having Communist connections.

Miss Lee, stripper and author scheduled to star in a new ABC show starting Saturday, was assailed Monday by Edward A. Calanage, chairman of the Illinois Legion's anti-subversive committee.

He said she reportedly was a "dear and close associate of tailors of our country." Noting that her name appeared in "Red Channels," he wired ABC asking what it was going to do about her program.

Robert K. Kintner, ABC president, yesterday replied that Miss Lee had signed a sworn affidavit denying any Communist sympathies or ties. The message to Calanage ended.

"If you have any evidence to the contrary, please advise," he wrote.

Meanwhile, the council of the AFL Actors Equity association said some employers in the industry were "allowing themselves to be intimidated by a few private individuals and publications who, in the irresponsible manner of vigilantes, have improperly assumed the functions of government."

The council specifically protested the dismissal of Miss Muir from a show by the sponsor, General Foods Corp. The company said she had become "too controversial." Miss Muir denied any Communist links.

The actors' group said it opposed communism and fascism but thought the government could handle subversive activity. It charged private groups were unjustly ruining entertainment reputations and depriving them of livelihood without giving them a chance to refute pro-Communist charges.

Later, Theodore Kirkpatrick, editor of "Counterattack," an anti-Communist weekly, which published "Red Channels," said the actors' union suffered from "Communist infiltration" and that "counterattacks" against reporting is beneficial to the union's members.

DOROTHY DIX Partnership Dissolved

Dear Dorothy Dix: In regard to your recent article about husbands telling their wives about their business affairs I desire more light. It was my idea when I married to make my wife a real partner in my business and tell her all about my affairs, but within three years she began being bored and lost all interest in the subject. Furthermore she blamed me for all unprofitable investments, even though we had previously talked it all over and agreed upon what to do, and she twitted me with every mistake. Also she confided all my business secrets to her friends. Necessarily I had to quit telling her anything about my affairs, so I have concluded that the more a wife knows about her husband's business, the more harm she can do.

BEWILDERED HUSBAND

Answer: You have to deal with a wife according to her folly and if you have one who has no real interest in business, no sense of values and no discretion you cannot treat her as a reasonable human being and make her a partner.

Women Must Be Practical

When I advocated husbands telling their wives about their business affairs and discussing their hopes and plans with them, I had in mind the practical, commonsense, ambitious woman who is just as anxious for her husband to succeed as he is himself and who could be a very real help to him if he would let her. I felt that the man was depriving himself of something of value that he might get out of his wife's co-operation, and that they would both be drawn closer together by having a mutual interest and striving for the same end, and that a closer companionship would come from their talking over all their problems to gether.

But there are women who seem unable to grasp the simplest business proposition. There are others whose knowledge of their husbands' affairs furnish them with subjects for nagging. There are still others who blab everything. Plenty of women have lost their husbands' good jobs by telling office secrets. Plenty of others have ruined their husbands' credit by telling that their husbands were in financial straits.

Obviously a man is a fool to confide his business affairs to a wife who is loose-tongued or who does not take a real heart interest in what he is telling her. Also many men refrain from talking over their business affairs at home because it brings up all the unpleasant incidents of the day and makes them relive all its worries and anxieties and they want to forget them in order that they may be better able to grapple with their problems.

Dear Miss Dix: What is your opinion of home and family life?

MARTHA
Answer: They are the two most important things in the world. They are the foundation upon which all civilization rests. They form the character and set the life pattern of every one of us.

Every man and woman of us are stamped indelibly with the print of the homes out of which we have come. We are what our family life has made us. No matter how far we go, no matter what culture we take on, no matter how much we believe we have changed and how much we think we have gotten away from the teachings of our childhood, they still subconsciously color our every thought and act.

Our mothers and fathers shaped the clay and fired it in the oven of home, and we are what they made us. In the great crises of our lives we do not calmly reason things out. We are actuated by the primal impulses that we draw in with our mothers' milk. We stand or fall. We are weak and strong according to the habits that our parents bred in us.

That is why the making of a home and the rearing of a family are the biggest jobs that any man and woman undertake, because the children that they send out into the world are going to be a blessing or a curse to it according to the way they have done their work.

Price of Rice Barely Steady in Southern Belt

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 13 — (AP) — Prices for rice held barely steady in the southern belt this week as heavier marketings had a weakening influence on the market, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's production and marketing administration reported today.

Harvesting made rapid progress under ideal weather conditions in Louisiana and Texas, and large quantities moved to market. Combining started in Arkansas and California, but very little new rice appeared at markets in these states.

Although mills in Texas and Louisiana lowered buying prices, few farmers accepted bids which fell below support value. As of Sept. 9, Houston mills offered $4.57 to $4.69 per 100 pounds for good milling quality no. 2 rough zenith. No. 2 magnolia was priced at $4.63 to $4.75 and bluebonnet at $5.53 to $5.68.

Prices on milled rice for September shipment held steady at principal distributing centers. However, demand for later delivery was dull. Cuban buyers showed interest in rice with a heavy broken content for September shipment but domestic demand was slow with most purchases for current needs. Inquiry from Puerto Rico and Hawaii was light.

Ministers in Secret Talks About Defense

New York, Sept. 13 — (AP) — The Big Three foreign ministers today began secret talks on relaxing occupation controls in Western Germany and plans to pay for the new European rearmament program.

The foreign minister of the United States, Britain and France opened their second session at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel at 8:40 a. m. CST. They were expected to meet throughout the day and possibly into the night.

The Big Three were accompanied to the conference room by their highest German advisers and finance experts.

The foreign ministers were to hear from both groups reports that had been drafted during last night.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson called an Assistant Secretary of State for European Affairs, George W. Perkins, Jr., U. S. High Commissioner for Germany John J. McCloy, Col. Henry M. Byroade, director of the state department's bureau of German affairs, and Ambassador Charles M. Spofford, chairman of the North Atlantic treaty deputies organization.

British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin was assisted by a group including Sir Ivone Kirkpatrick, British high commissioner to Germany, and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman was being advised by Andrew Francois-Poncet, French high commissioner for Germany.

The meeting began on a new note of confidence, that appointment of Gen. George C. Marshall as U. S. defense secretary would speed American-European defense planning.

Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson's resignation was regarded by the American delegation and the European diplomats meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel as a victory for Acheson at a time when he needed it the most. His position had been weak because of known tension with Johnson.

Delegates speculated that President Truman had picked yesterday afternoon to announce news of the defense switch to strengthen Acheson's position in his talks with British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman.

Acheson within the next week meets the 12 North Atlantic pact foreign ministers and heads the American delegation to the UN general assembly.

Are Good Men So Hard to Find in U. S.?

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Sept. 13 —(P)—This writer has great respect for General George C. Marshall as a man, as a citizen, as a soldier, and as a public servant.

So what follows here is not meant as a criticism of him. But his selection by President Truman to succeed Louis Johnson as secretary of defense raises one question at once:

Why, in a country of 150,000,000 people, does one man, like General Marshall, have to serve in one critical job after another? Are no other men capable of filling critical jobs well?

Marshall was chief of staff during World War II. He retired in 1945, thinking that after his long army career and world war duties he could get a well-earned rest.

But the situation in China — between Chiang Kai-shek and the Communists — was so bad that Mr. Truman called the general out of retirement and sent him to China as the one man capable of mediating the dispute.

Then when Marshall finished that job, Mr. Truman asked him to be secretary of state. A good man was needed. Marshall was a good man. He served until ill health forced him to retire again to private life.

He's 69 years old. And now, with the nation in a ditch over its defenses, Marshall once more is asked to help the country out.

Granted that Marshall is one of the outstanding men of his time, it still is some kind of commentary on the other 150,000,000 people that one man repeatedly has to be called on to bail his country out of trouble.

Then there's another question: How will Marshall make out if congress approves his appointment as secretary of defense? Elections are coming in November.

ber. Few people are sacred in politics. Will he get a political kicking around?

Until now the Republicans have been bailing Secretary of State Dean Acheson for our China policy. That policy can be stated briefly:

Several years ago the Truman administration decided it was hopeless to keep pouring help into Chiang Kai-shek's government in its fight against the Chinese Communists. On these grounds:

That Chiang's government was corrupt, that it wouldn't take the steps at reform necessary to help itself, and that it could not win against the Communists so long as it persisted in not reforming.

As a result, American aid was withdrawn and eventually the Communists drove Chiang out.

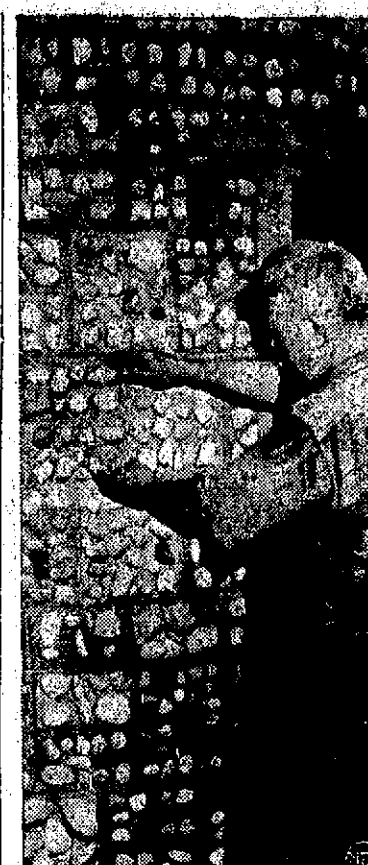

Marshall had a big hand in shaping that policy. When Acheson succeeded him as secretary of state, the policy was continued, always, of course, with the approval of Mr. Truman, who was the connecting link between the two men.

But for many months now, with the Communists in control of China, Acheson has been condemned by the Republicans for our China policy. Senator McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, even called him the "Red Dean."

It seems unlikely that anyone would dare try to put any Red labels on Marshall but — Now we'll have to see whether Marshall is going to be criticized along with Acheson for the China policy. The latter until now has had to bear the brunt of the attacks almost alone.

In order for Marshall to take the job as secretary of defense, congress must change a law which it passed only a couple of years ago. That law says no former regular officer can be secretary of defense unless 10 years have elapsed since he left the service.

Marshall retired from the army only five years ago. So before he can be secretary of defense, congress will have to change the law — at least in his case. The purpose behind the present law, of course, was to preserve civilian control of the armed forces.

That's part of the American democratic tradition of keeping control of the country in civilian hands and out of the hands of military men.

Several members of congress, however, offered strange reasoning in explaining why they'll approve changing the law for Marshall.

They said they'd be against a

New Industry Reported Moving to Arkansas

By The Associated Press

Expansion of the Westinghouse Electric corporation's bulb plant at Little Rock and a report that Arkansas definitely has been selected as the site for an aluminum ore smelting plant topped industrial and business developments in the state Wednesday.

Westinghouse Plant Manager Frank A. Newcombe said construction of a 100,000 square foot addition to the plant would begin this week and the contract called for completion of the project by next April.

In Tulsa, Okla., the World carried a dispatch from Washington quoting an unidentified official of the general services administration to the effect that the smelter would be located in Arkansas because of cheaper electric rates.

Earlier, Apex Smelting Co., of Chicago had announced that the smelter either would be located in Arkansas or Oklahoma. Helena had been mentioned as the probable site if the plant was built in this state.

military man as head of the armed forces in ordinary times, but — these are unusual times and therefore it's all right to put in a military man.

That's a little like saying civilians are all right till things get tough, but then we need military leaders. If that thinking was followed all the way down the line we'd have a military state, not democracy.

And that kind of thinking is completely contrary to the thinking of the founding fathers who wanted civilian control to be sure that military men always remained servants of the people, not their masters.

So it will be interesting to see just how congress changes the law to let Marshall have the job. Whether it will wipe out the ban on military men altogether or just relax and rule for Marshall alone.

Quick Freight Handling Is Ordered

Washington, Sept. 13 —(P)—Speedier handling of freight traffic "to promote national defense" was ordered today by the interstate commerce commission.

The new order to defense transportation sets a 24-hour limit to turn around in freight cars to move.

The change was set at a car per day for the first and second day after free time, and day thereafter.

Another section of the order directed railroads to have cars in a position for use within 24 hours after arrival at a terminal point. Then, when cars are unloaded and properly loaded with a new consignee, the railroads must have them rolling within 24 hours.

In issuing the order, the said that slow handling of freight causing a shortage of badly needed equipment.

The organization is expected to start functioning, at least on a standby basis, within two weeks.

New York, Sept. 13 —(P)—Eleanor Counts, a Broadway show girl who crashed the movie in 1938 by picketing a Hollywood studio, was found dead yesterday in a hotel bedroom.

The 32-year-old blonde was stricken with pneumonia three weeks ago. Police said a bottle of tablets was near the bed in which the body was found.

After appearing in several Broadway shows, Miss Counts was in Hollywood where she had a landing job. Finally, she was outside a studio gate with a reading.

"My legs are nice, see? They can act too. Give me a picture. As a result, she won a picture picture starring Bob Burns.

LUCKY TO BE ALIVE—Pfc. Robert Roberts, 1st Cavalry Division trooper who hails from Sparta, Tenn., points out hole in his helmet made by enemy bullet to show how narrowly he escaped death when Communists overran his outfit's position in a night attack. Another bullet grazed the helmet and a third scraped his back. He's just hoping his luck holds out.

Steele of Auburn, Mass., got a bang out of Yule's colorful kilt as the British troops land at a South Korean port. With the help of Capt. Steele, Yule bared just a bit of knobby-kneed cheesecake for NEA-Acme photographer Ed Hoffman, who took the picture.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Sept. 12. — (A) — Branch Rickey tabs the Phillies' Eddie Sawyer as the first "teaching manager" to come into the major leagues in years. But that doesn't mean Eddie could win a pennant with Schoolboy Rowe. New (to us) position in football coaching is held by Georgia's Quinton Lumpkin, who is listed as "freshman coach and monitor of football players' dormitory."

Hank Iba, Oklahoma A. and M. athletic director and basketball coach, is up and a round again after spending most of his summer vacation in bed, due to a back injury. After Bert Bell finished orating about all the "great" football teams in the National league this season, one slightly cynical N. Y. scribe murmured "It's gonna be a dead heat."

Ouch

Headline: "Deddens Signed by Reds." That's no news. They've had dead 'uns in Cincinnati for years.

Shorts And Shells

Wid Matthews, the Cubs scout, has tacked a "can't miss" sign on Bob Schultz, the Nashville lefty who moves to Chicago next season. Tug Wilson's late letter to Baseball Commissioner Chandler about the Yankees' signing of Bill Skowron drew a chuckle from the college coaches, who had been thinking and saying the same things for several years. Tug came into the negotiations with the idea that the NCAA could swing some weight in dealing with professional baseball. The football Giants have been using Emil Tunnell as a "T" quarterback in practice and the defense specialist has had the coaches pored over a couple of times by toss-long, accurate passes when he apparently had been trapped. Harry Stuldrer, Jr., is a sophomore candidate for the Michigan football team. Maybe he read those "Good Bye Harry"

Athletics, 6-0.

In the National league the Philadelphia Phillies moved a step closer towards the pennant by nosing out the St. Louis Cardinals, 1-0, behind five-hit pitching of Robin Roberts, who attained his 19th victory. The Cards' Max Lanier and Al Brazle surrendered only three hits but one was a fifth inning homer by Andy Seminick who celebrated his 30th birthday. The victory kept the Phils 6-2 games ahead of the runner-up Brooklyn Dodgers who collected only one hit in beating the New York Yankees, 1-0, in the Cincinnati Reds, 3-1.

Blackwell lost the game in the eighth inning when he hit a batter, committed an error and wild pitched home a run that broke a 1-1 tie. Gene Hermanski singled in the fourth for the lone Brooklyn hit. Carl Erskine went the route for the Dodgers allowing three safeties. The New York Giants' Sheldon Jones blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-0, for the 17th shutout by the Giants this year.

The Giants moved to within a half game of the third place Boston Braves who dropped a 3-1 night game decision to Bobo Rush and the Chicago Cubs.

Indians Take Yanks Out of First Place

By RALPH RODEN

Associated Press Sports Editor
With big Luke Easter as the ringleader, the smarting Cleveland Indians are moving back into the American league pennant race in the role of "spoilers."

Knocked out of contention and blasted by their bosses, the Indians are out to redeem themselves at the expense of the three remaining contenders — Boston, New York and Detroit.

They began to reap revenge last night by defeating the New York Yankees, 6-7, on a three-run homer by Easter in the ninth inning.

The defeat sent the Yankees into second place, a half game back of the Detroit Tigers who scored a 3-2 afternoon triumph over the Washington Senators.

Cleveland has one more game with the Yanks, six with the Tigers and two with the third place Boston Red Sox. The Red Sox still moving relentlessly forward, climbed within a game of the lead by edging the Chicago White Sox, 2-1.

Home runs in the first two innings by Joe DiMaggio, Phil Rizzuto and Yogi Berra shot the Yanks off to 6-0 lead in a rain-soaked game.

Early Wynn was the victim of a Yankee bombardment but after that the world champions were effectively checked by Dick Wisk, Sad Sam Zolack and Steve Gromek.

Homers by Larry Doby and Easter shaved the deficit to 6-4 by the fifth.

It appeared the Yanks had the game in the bag when Jim Hegan grounded out to open the Cleveland ninth.

Allie Reynolds, who had allowed only four hits, blew up in the ninth and walked two batters. He was hurriedly lifted for Tom Ferrick. Bob Kennedy greeted Ferrick with a run scoring double. Doby struck out but Easter then slammed Ferrick's first pitch over the rightfield fence to break up the game.

The Tigers had rough sledding before squashing the Senators. Old Dix Trout went all the way for the Bengals and permitted eight hits while his mates collected only five.

The Gene Bearden and Mickey Harris.

Detroit clipped Bearden for two runs in the third on a walk and doubles by George Kell and Vic Wertz. Wertz homered for the winning run in the fifth. The Senators scored in the sixth and added their final run in the eighth on homer by Ed Stewart.

Lefty Mel Parnell turned in a neat five hitter in recording his 10th victory and eighth straight for the Red Sox under the lights in Chicago. The Sox now have won 24 out of their last 27 games.

All of the scoring took place in the first two innings. The Sox tallied in the first on singles by Johnny Pesky, Bill Goodman and Vern Stephens' long fly. They scored the winning run in the next inning on a single by Al Zarilla, in field out, wild pitch and a single by Dom DiMaggio.

The St. Louis Browns, behind the three-hit pitching of Al Widmar, blanked the Philadelphia who purchases sole broadcasting rights from the University of Arkansas. Did not include KXAR in its station order for 1950.

"We know that fans in this area will be as disappointed as we were in not obtaining these broadcasts. Each year this same sponsor selects a group of stations to carry the games, apparently they did not consider this area important enough in their coverage of Arkansas. We sincerely hope that this condition will be altered next year."

Many fans have also inquired about the possibility of broadcasting this year. Mr. Tooley explained that due to the terrific cost of presenting these games it is unlikely that arrangements can be made for the broadcasts. He also emphasized the sports consciousness of KXAR.

He pointed out that KXAR presented a greater year round schedule of sports last year than any small station in Arkansas. He explained that there are now 35 radio stations in Arkansas, 12 stations broadcasted Arkansas basketball this year. Three stations broadcasted the Oak Lawn Races, 22 stations broadcasted Major League baseball and two stations broadcasted Arkansas freshmen and spring practice football games.

KXAR was included in all of these broadcasts.

"It is hoped that, with the help of local fans and razorback boosters that the importance of broadcasting the razorback games to this area next year can be emphasized to the University and to the broadcast sponsors."

Murfreesboro Wins League Playoff

Willie Williamson came into hurl a brilliant relief job and Jack Crawley supplied the batting punch to hang the 1950 Southwest Arkansas Semi-Pro League pennant on the flagpole at Murfreesboro as the Red Sox took a slam-bang tenth inning buster from the Hope Legionnaires 8-2 at the Hope home garden last night. Murfreesboro won the playoff series three games to one. With the score tied at 2-2 going into the bottom of the tenth square Jack Crawley unloaded a prodigious 375 foot drive over the right center field barrier off Hope relief flinger, Gilson Ross. Willie Williamson of the defensive slate turned back the Hope outfit in superb fashion in a sensational relief role. Williamson sauntered in from left field in the top of the eighth following consecutive singles by Delvin Ross and Buddy White off Dale Richardson. Sox starting hurler, Williamson was bunted to on the mound by Gilson Ross and his throw to third was no good as Bud Crawley failed to be on the bag. That loaded the sacks with none out. Willie then uncorked his fast ball Bell, Taylor and pinch hitter Compton to retire the side with no damage done. Hope didn't threaten the rest of the way too severely.

Gilson Ross relieved Denzil Ross in the bottom of the ninth with men on second and third and only one out. Gilson solved the puzzle and retired the side without giving up a tallie.

Hope scored first in the second frame. Gilson Ross opened the inning by drawing a base on balls off Dale Richardson. Jack Bell sacrificed his to second. Roy Taylor plastered a line drive single off the glove of Sonny Nutt at third and into left field to score Ross from second with another one baser. Taylor later scored on an error to shove Hope out front 2-0.

Murfreesboro tied the game in the seventh. Dwight Jones lead off with a solid single to left. Marv in Kea flied to left for the first out. Dale Richardson sent Jones to second with another one base. Denzil Ross bore down and struck out Sonny Nutt for out number two. However, Willie Williamson parked a single down the left field line to score Jones from second with two.

Murfreesboro's first run of the game. Delvin Ross fumbled the ball momentarily in left and Richardson took third and Williamson was tagged slightly on the blouse by an inside pitch off Ross to load the bases. With the sacks jammed Jack Crawley worked Denzil Ross for a walk to force in Richardson from third with the tying run. Ross' White hustled back to left screen and threw to Denzil covering at the plate to retire Williamson coming down from third to end the inning.

Dale Richardson started for Murfreesboro and Denzil Ross for Hope. Both had to have help later on. Willie Williamson took over for Richardson in the eighth and Gilson Ross helped Denzil Ross out in the ninth. Williamson was the winner and Gilson Ross was the loser.

Do not cook mushrooms over too high heat or too long or they will toughen.

KXAR to Carry All Bobcat Grid Games

The entire football schedule of the Hope High School Bobcats will again be broadcast this year by KXAR. It was announced today by L. B. Tooley, Manager. KXAR was granted permission by James H. Jones, superintendent of the Hope Public Schools and the broadcasts will be financed by local merchants who will sponsor the games.

The KXAR sports staff will follow the Bobcats on all out of town games. John McLeod will again present the play by play description of each game.

Mr. Tooley also announced that KXAR has completed arrangements for the "Game of the week", featuring a top intersectional college football game each Saturday afternoon. The following is a schedule of the games to be broadcast:

Sept. 23 Oregon State at Michigan State.
Sept. 30 SMU at Ohio State.
Oct. 7 Penn State at Army.
Oct. 14 Michigan — Army (Yankee Stadium).
Oct. 21 U. of Washington at Illinois.

Oct. 28 Mississippi State at Alabama.
Nov. 4 Ohio State at Northwestern.

Nov. 11 Wisconsin at Ohio State.
Nov. 18 Missouri at Oklahoma.
Nov. 25 Michigan at Ohio State.

Each of these games promise to be closely battled contests. Game time will vary from 12:30 PM CST to 2 p. m.

In answer to many requests concerning Arkansas football broadcast, Mr. Tooley made this statement today:
"KXAR regrets to announce that the sponsor of the Arkansas games, and Reynolds, New York, 148.
Pitching — Trout, Detroit, 13-4, 765; Nixon and McDermott, Boston, 7-3, 700.

Train Crack Being Investigated

HOPE, Sept. 12 (AP)—Federal agents launched an investigation today into a tragic crash which claimed the lives of 11 persons—most of them soldiers.

Less than 24 hours after the crash, a United States senator demanded a nationwide inquiry into the safety practices.

The investigation is being conducted by the U.S. Army's third worst train crash, which also injured at least 100.

Investigations were begun by the Pennsylvania railroad, whose train, "Spirit of St. Louis," crashed into the troop train at West Lafayette, Pa.

souls of the members. They also will pray for others.

The only contact with the outside is through an "extern" nun who lives apart from her sisters. She does the shopping, greets visitors and cares for the 70-seat chapel in the convent, remodeled from a private home. The nuns attend services in the chapel, but they are hidden behind a veiled grill on the right side of the altar.

Life behind the locked doors will be simple. The nuns will sleep on wooden bunks covered with straw mattresses in tiny cells. Each cell will contain a table and stool. The sisters must carry the stools with them if they wish to sit in another part of the convent.

The only place for recreation is in the community room. There may be found a library containing only books on religious subjects.

Explained one of the Carmelite sisters in response to a question why they have chosen a life to be spent mostly in prayer and penance: "The world is in need of prayer."

Hurricane Brushes New England Coast

Boston, Sept. 12 (AP)—A powerful Atlantic hurricane whistled out to sea early today after brushing the New England coast with winds up to 70 miles an hour.

The blow smashed small boats at moorings, endangered coastal shipping, snapped power lines and toppled trees before it turned seaward 80 miles east of Nantucket island, off the Massachusetts coast.

Mountainous seas battered beaches, smashing over seawalls in some sections. Property damage, however, was not extensive.

One fishing vessel was reported in trouble off the Massachusetts coast and another made port at Provincetown after sending out a distress call.

The 67-foot fishing vessel Muriel M. Russell of New Bedford, carrying about a dozen men, reported she was fighting terrific seas 12 miles south, southeast of Pollock Rip lightship.

She radioed that something had caught in her propeller. Two coast guard craft—the Legare of New Bedford and the Hornbeam of Woods Hole—headed for her position. A Quonset, R. I., based coast guard plane also was alerted.

Earlier the Boston fishing dragger Eugene J. Radioli she was having trouble 25 miles southeast of the tip of Cape Cod. She reported later, however, that she had docked at Provincetown.

The Boston weather bureau said the storm—still holding 100-mile winds in its center—would

Shaw Sitting Up After Operation

Luxton, Eng., Sept. 12 (AP)—George Bernard Shaw amazed his nurses today by sitting up in bed less than 24 hours after a bone-setting operation.

The 94-year-old playwright is described by his nurses as a "very good patient," but they added that he gave them strict orders—keep in mind he is a vegetarian and serve him no meat.

The operation was performed last night, and a mid-afternoon bulletin today said Shaw's condition continues to be satisfactory.

R. E. Lingard, secretary of Luton and unstable hospital, said today the testy old playwright is doing fine and probably will be sent home within 10 days.

Shaw slipped and fractured his left thigh bone Sunday in the garden of his home at nearby Ayot St. Lawrence. Doctors pinned the broken bone together in a 45-minute operation under general anesthesia last night.

Today Lingard said the old man was "quite perky" and talking a blue streak. His pulse, temperature and blood pressure were normal, the secretary said, and doctors were "happy" about his general condition.

A fractured thigh bone often leads to fatal complications in patients of such advanced age.

Shaw woke up early this morning, ate a light breakfast and listened with obvious satisfaction to a newscast about his operation.

Later the hospital issued this bulletin:

"Mr. George Bernard Shaw spent a very comfortable night following his operation. His condition is considered satisfactory."

Driver Dead at Wheel of Cab Kills Pedestrian

Indianapolis, Sept. 12 (AP)—A pedestrian was killed today under the wheels of a careening taxicab whose driver was dead at the wheel.

Police said Franklin Hughes, about 50, of Indianapolis was struck by the cab as it lurched forward from a standing position and rolled over the sidewalk in downtown Indianapolis.

The driver, Claude McClain, 51, of Indianapolis, had stopped for a traffic light.

Patrolman Chester Sturgeon said McClain collapsed suddenly, his head hanging out the open driver's window.

A woman passenger in the cab move no closer to land and probably would pass Canada's maritime provinces.

North Korea in for Bad Time Says Arkansan

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 12 (AP)—A wounded Arkansan soldier says the North Koreans won't stand a chance "when we really get going."

Pvt. Arthur Mitchell of Blytheville blamed the Red bullet which struck his leg on enemy luck, not sharpshooting. He predicted victory when the GIs start driving ahead.

Mitchell was wounded with a small first cavalry division holding party on the Nakdong river at 8:30 a. m. Aug. 24.

"One boy in our patrol fired and the enemy immediately threw back everything they could get, which wasn't much," he related. "They accidentally hit me."

Mitchell was one of 18 wounded brought to Mobile's Brookley air force base in a C-74 air evacuation plane. His leg was in a long plaster cast.

He is being flown to a hospital near his home.

Single Agency May Handle All Foreign Aid

By JOHN A. SCALI
Washington, Sept. 13 (AP)—A plan to channel all foreign aid—both military and economic—through a single government agency reportedly is being drawn up for President Truman's consideration.

Informed officials said today the plan is part of a report now being prepared by Gordon Gray, former army secretary and new president of the University of North Carolina.

Gray and a staff of government and private financial experts have been studying world economic conditions for the past six months at the request of President Truman.

Tentative conclusions being put into final form, officials said, call for unified administration of all foreign aid programs which involve grants by the American government.

These grants total billions of dollars annually.

First step in the unification proposal, it is reported, would be the merger of the economic cooperation administration, which is directing economic aid to 16 Western European countries plus Korea and China, with the military assistance program now funneling American billions to nearly a score of nations.

These two principal programs presumably would be joined to the "point four" program to encourage underdeveloped areas, and the Latin American health and sanitation programs.

Part of the reasoning behind Gray's current thinking, officials say, is that a tighter check is needed on the money the United States is now distributing to overseas allies.

Other powers suggested for the proposed new agency, it was learned, is that it have a major voice in determining the policies of the Export-Import bank, and direct the activities of the American representative of the multi-billion dollar world bank. The Export-Import bank is this government's principal agency for making foreign loans.

The FORMER MISS FREY

"Your father," Reagan began, "ran this agency on the principle of quality rather than quantity. He liked to have a few good accounts and service them all decently, instead of a mess of little ones. We used to have about 10 clients. That isn't many, but every one was profitable. Mr. Frey didn't go in for cats and dogs."

"And how many accounts have we got now?" Ed asked.

"We're not, though."

"No," said Ed. "We're not." She found herself liking this man.

"Those two accounts," Reagan pursued, "were Emery's Yeast and Southern Cross Tobacco. They're out of the picture now, so we might as well forget about them."

"Did they leave us because the quality of the advertising has slipped?"

"Definitely not," Reagan said promptly. "We've got as good a creative staff as there is anywhere. I'd stack Stoneham—he heads our copy department—against any writer in New York. And we've got a Gazeo A bunch of art directors. No, there was monkey business somewhere behind the scenes."

"Go on, then," Ed said.

"Well, out of those we have left, six are solid as a rock. I'll go into them with you later on, but there's nothing to worry about. And that, Miss Frey, is the pleasant side of the picture. Unfortunately, there's another."

"I think I know what you mean," Ed murmured. "My father mentioned that a couple of accounts were shaky."

Missouri Pacific lines chief engineer says the railroad will have to be rerouted around two Arkansas cities if proposed dams are built.

Roy P. Hart, the engineer, was talking about Russellville and Batesville.

If the proposed Dardanelle dam

Reagan frowned. "Two accounts," he said. "One is Lyons Bread, but I'm not worried too much about it. Lyons himself, the president, is an old comma-chaser with a constant kick about something or other. He's always threatening to leave us, but he never has yet. He evidently believes he'll get more service if he keeps us on edge."

"And the other?" Ed asked.

"The other," Reagan's frown deepened, "is really giving me a headache. Because it's the biggest business we've got. Morn-Glo Soap."

"Morn-Glo Soap?" Ed repeated. "Isn't that the account Jeffrey handles?"

Reagan met her eyes. "Yes. It's Jeffrey's account."

"Well, is that the trouble?"

REAGAN seemed to pick his words. "We're dealing with quite a guy over there, Miss Frey. His name's Northcott and he's got the title of advertising manager. But he's a lot more powerful than the average. You'd call him a sort of super advertising manager, I guess. Anyway, he could take the business away from us with a flick of his finger. By the same token, he could hand us more of the Loman & Smith advertising, if he wanted to. Morn-Glo Soap's only one of their products. They've half a dozen others, with other agencies."

"Do you know why Mr. Northcott is dissatisfied?" said Ed.

"Frankly, I don't. I wouldn't even say he is dissatisfied. He's been complimentary about the work lately and Morn-Glo sales are up. But I can't get rid of the feeling that something is cooking. Something that doesn't include us."

"I take it," Ed said, "that it wouldn't be so good if we lost that account?"

Reagan was lighting a cigaret. Over the flare of the match he regarded her steadily. "It would be very bad," he said. "To begin with, Morn-Glo spends over two million. But, worse than losing that, our prestige would take a terrific nose-dive. And that might upset some of our other business. We can't afford to lose Morn-Glo."

Nuns Prepare for Life in a Convent

Little Rock, Sept. 12 (AP)—Something around dusk tonight, eight Roman Catholic nuns will shut themselves off from the rest of the world for the remainder of their lives in a new convent just few blocks from the heart of downtown Little Rock.

While noisy life of the city moves on about the cloistered place, the little group of women in coarse, black robes and open, hand-woven sandals, will spend most of their waking hours in prayer.

At 7 p. m., following a simple, solemn ceremony, Bishop Albert J. Fletcher of the Little Rock diocese will lock the front door of the convent at 812 Louisiana and hand the key through a grill to the prioress (supervisor).

From that moment on, the eight members of the Discalced Carmelite order will lead a self-imposed spartan existence.

The primary mission of the order—the first to be established in Arkansas—is glorification of God through sanctification of the
